Committee names group to publicize jail need

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A publicity subcommittee was named Saturday by The Hancock County Jail Committee to help promote passage of a bond issue for a new county jail in the November General Election.

The subcommittee met following the committee meeting, selecting Clarice Gustin and Mary M. Perkins as co-chairmen.

Gustin is the executive director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Perkins is the public relations director of Hancock General Hospital and also a chamber director.

Gustin at the jail committee said, "The chamber wants to help in anyway it can in publicizing the bond issue, to work with the Jail Committee in anyway you want."

Other members of the publicity subcommittee are Anthony Loiacano, Vic Frankiewicz, Geraldine Lang, Robert Seaton, and Lana Noonan. Several others are to be named later.

Fred Wagner, local architect, whose firm along with the firm of architect N.C. Curtis Jr. did a feasibility study for a new jail for the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, explained the two site recommendations.

James Travirca, District Five supervisor concerned with parking, questioned Wagner if there was a possibility of the Methodist Church's property being available at a later date.

Wagner said, "The church's property is not only controlled by the local church, but also the conference."

"The board of trustees (church) have discussed the matter and if they are asked for a meeting I think the trustees will sit down and discuss the matter," Wagner added.

Travirca indicated the board of supervisors would try and set a meeting with the trustees of the Methodist Church.

In the feasibility study two possible sites were mentioned, one at the same location, and the other at the back of The Sea Coast Echo property.

On a motion by Vic Frankiewicz, the jail committee was unanimous in recommending the location behind The Sea Coast Echo building.

A committee member indicated that site should not become an issue in the matter as there is a extreme need for a new jail.

Travirca said he felt the parking situation should be resolved and other properties should be considered.

The fact that a jail must be within one-quarter of a mile from the courthouse was mentioned by Mary McDon-JAIL—Page 10A

Mosquito control proposal rejected

By DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors did not act Thursday on a proposal for establishing a county mosquito control commission because the 1984-85 county budget has already provided for such a program.

Paul Smith proposed replacing the county's present mosquito control system, which is supplied by the Gulf Coast Mosquito Control Commission, with a single-county system called the Hancock County Mosquito Control Commission.

Gulf Coast services the three counties on the Mississippi Coast, does not employ any Hancock Countians and in-curs expenses for travel and a direct telephone line that could be eliminated by establishing a local system to serve Hancock County only, Smith said.

The one mill tax currently levied for mosquito control could be used to pay for and establish the local commission, Smith said.

Smith said the system could probably be operated with only two vehicles, further reducing the expense.

According to Smith's research, using the Gulf Coast system costs about $95,000 per year, but a locally-operated system would cost about $70,000 per year.

Board President A.A. "Dolph" Kellar said Gulf Coast had already been placed in the budget and said the board preferred not to make a change at this time, but added that the board may consider Smith's proposal at a later date.

Also addressing the board was Sheriff Ronald Peterson, who said an IRS lien on money seized in a Pearlington drug raid has been lifted and the funds were turned over to the county. About $20,000 of the money was used to repay an inter-fund loan the board had granted to the sheriff's department at an earlier meeting.

The board also approved the county millage rate for the next fiscal year and granted a tax exemption for three lots owned by the Gulf Coast Baptist Association.

Other business included granting final approval for a $400,000 hospital bond. The supervisors called a public hearing and approved the bond after no one appeared to object.

Bay City Hall entry under investigation

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay Police are investigating the Tuesday night entry into city Utility Department offices, according to Joe Pica, police investigator.

Pica said, "A window was broken to gain entry into the department which is housed down stairs at the City Hall."

"The person or persons appeared to have been looking for cash. We have not been able to determine anything is missing," Pica added.

Eddie Favre, Bay city clerk, reported there was a Tuesday night City Council meeting and entry was apparently made sometime after the meeting before the office opened on Wednesday.

Several desk drawers were left open as if there had been a search in them, Pica said, noting the safe had not been tampered with.

In other police investigations, Pica reported four vehicles were entered on the same night in the St. Stanislaus Parking lot and several stereos, radios and speakers were removed.

The incidents are still under investigation Pica stated.

CLINIC PICKETING CONTINUES—Carrying picket signs protesting the practice of abortion at the New Woman's Clinic on US-90 in Bay St. Louis Saturday are, from left, Dr. M. L. Dodson, MD, of Gulfport; Bay St. Louis businessman Pete Chapman of Waveland; Dr. Sheila Gottchaik, MD, of Bay St. Louis, head of the neo-natal intensive care unit at Charity Hospital in New Orleans, La.; and Mayor John Longo of Waveland. The picketing followed formal denial earlier in the week of a clinic request for preliminary and permanent injunctions against the picketing by Chancellor Jason Floyd in Hancock Chancery Court. The judge recommended guidelines for the pickets in his order, including a limit on their number and delineation of the area to which picketing should be confined. The clinic was closed Saturday. CHEESE-BUTTER-HONEY

The next distribution of USDA commodities—cheese, butter and honey—will be scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 26 at the National Guard Armory next to the Fairgrounds from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Eligible recipients must bring signed vouchers.

Persons eligible are food stamp recipients and low income householders who have applied for commodities at the Welfare Department and have been determined eligible.

Applications should be made between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. from Sept. 17 through 25.

CHAMBER FISH FRY

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will host a fish fry social Saturday, Sept. 29, Pavilion No. 3, Buccaneer State Park, Waveland.

All Chamber members and their guests are invited to attend the event which begins at 6:30 p.m. and includes an auction.

Persons attending should bring their own lawnchairs.

Chief cooks for the event will be Hancock Circuit Clerk John Rutherford and Mayor John Longo of Waveland.

Reservations must be made in advance at $6 per person by contacting the Chamber office at 467-9048. Deadline for making reservations is Thursday, Sept. 27.

PERFORMERS NEEDED

The Third Annual Old Biloxi Fall Festival Committee is looking for musicians, ventriloquists, impersonators, strolling musicians and mimeartists to perform at the Old Biloxi Fall Festival, which will be held on Saturday, November 3, 1984 at the Vieux Marche Mall.

Performers with any of these talents are asked to contact the City of Biloxi Department of Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs at 432-2563 prior to Monday, October 1, 1984.

The Old Biloxi Fall Festival is sponsored each year by the City of Biloxi, Mayor Gerald Blessey and City Council, and The Greater Biloxi Economic Development Foundation.

County building code, sewage questions aired

By DENA BISNETTE

Representatives of the Shoreline Park Civic Association have asked the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to place a referendum for a county building code on the November ballot.

The board denied the request Thursday, but board members indicated that the need for a county building code will probably be pursued through other channels when the Mississippi Legislature reconvenes in January.

The county presently has no building code other than a set of floodplain regulations. Lack of a building code, according to association representative Herbert Marsh, has resulted in problems with sewage disposal in Shoreline Park and other parts of the county.

Marsh told the board that many Shoreline Park residents use inadequate septic tanks or allow sewage to drain through open ditches.

"We feel this is an important issue for the county because we've seen what unrestricted building can do," he said. "We want to take it out of the hands of five people (the supervisors) and put it in the hands of the public."

Board members, however, said they prefer not to try to correct the problem through a referendum because they feel such a referendum would not pass.

"It might go in the rest of the county but they'd never vote on it up in the northern part," Board President A.A. Kellar said.

He explained that the use of referendum to solve the building code problem has already been tried.

"In about 1971 the county enacted a building code and it came to an election, but it was overwhelmingly voted down," Kellar said.

Beat Five Supervisor James Travirca said the board has a better chance of solving the problem through a local and private bill passed by the Mississippi Legislature.

According to Walter Gex III, the board's attorney, the bill would allow the supervisors to bypass the usual procedure for enacting a building code.

Statutes regarding that procedure declare that a building code has to be passed on a countywide basis, and the supervisors would have to enact the code before it could be brought to a

Delinquent Realty Tax Sales to be conducted on Monday

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Delinquent Realty Tax Sales will be conducted at the Hancock County, City of Bay St. Louis, and Waveland tax collectors' offices on Monday for delinquent 1983 property taxes.

Edward Murtagh, Hancock County tax collector-assessor, said the county delinquent realty tax sale will be held in the Hancock County courtroom starting at 8:30 a.m.

"A number will be assigned to persons interested in bidding on the delinquent taxes. Bids will be recorded by the numbers," Murtagh stated.

Deputy tax collectors have been assigned schedules to conduct the sale expected to last two or three days for the county. Hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 4 p.m.

Estelle Johnson, Bay St. Louis tax collector, said many property owners have paid their taxes in recent days, yet many parcels still remain unpaid.

"The Bay St. Louis sale usually lasts one day and will begin at 9 a.m. Monday in the tax collector's office," Johnson reported.

Waveland's delinquent realty tax sale will begin at 10 a.m. in the tax collector's office, according to Claire B. Clements, city tax collector.

All three tax collectors report about the same number of parcels of land have delinquent taxes as last year.

Guild members hear biography of St. Monica

A research paper on the life of St. Monica was prepared and presented on Monday, Sept. 10 by Mrs. Nunez C. Pilet of Bay St. Louis to members of the St. Monica Guild, Women of Trinity Church in Pass Christian.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Rosamond Wallace of North Second Street in Pass Christian.

Mrs. Pilet was introduced by Mrs. Walter A. Martin, program chairman for the group who said Mrs. Pilet who now serves as recording secretary has been a member of the guild for 35 years.

She has held several offices in the guild and compiled a handbook of Trinity Church which was published in 1973.

"I am indebted to the Very Reverend A. Francis Theriault, rector of the Divine Word Seminary in Bay St. Louis, for the use of his books as well as for his valued suggestions," Mrs. Pilet explained and added she hoped to neither leave out what should be said nor to linger on what seemed superfluous.

In addition to the books borrowed from Father Theriault Mrs. Pilet said she bought a book entitled "The Confessions of St. Augustine" from a book sale conducted by the Bay St. Louis Public Library because it had some interesting references to Monica.

Other references included quotations from historian John J. O'Meara whose records show that Monica was born in 387 A.D. and died at the age of 56.

She was 23 years of age at the time her son, Augustine, was born and she and her pagan husband, Patricius, had at least two other children prior to the birth of Augustine.

Mrs. Pilet said she had often been asked for a description of St. Monica, particularly the color of her skin and eyes. "I have found no information that is definite," Mrs. Pilet said, "but we can assume or speculate and draw our own personal conclusions."

"To help with the speculation," Mrs. Pilet suggested, "start with a study of the maps of Africa and Europe.

North Africa, the home of St. Monica, borders the Mediterranean Sea. On the opposite shore are European countries.

Again making reference to O'Meara Mrs. Pilet read: "For the past 3,000 years or more a people have lived in North Africa that in the main has blue eyes, fair or brown hair and fair skin."

However, Mrs. Pilet pointed out that in all cultures there are variations and much intermingling with other peoples.

"Regardless of race or color," Mrs. Pilet said, "Monica had and accomplished a definite mission in life. Because of her personal piety—her Christian faith—and her strong influence on her son, Monica is one of the most revered women in the history of the Christian Church," Mrs. Pilet concluded.

Ending her talk with an emotional passage taken from St. Augustine's Confessions, Mrs. Pilet read an account of St. Monica's death on foreign soil where she was attended by her sons, as well as a grandson who was born to St. Augustine and his mistress of 14 years. Augustine wrote: "On the ninth day of her sickness and the 56th year of her age that religious and holy soul was freed from the body. I closed her eyes."

Commission to hear rate hike request

Insurers in Mississippi are urging the state's regulatory authorities to approve an increase in homeowners insurance rates.

"The reason for the increase," said Bill Allison, a member of the Insurance Information Institute's Mississippi Committee, "is that companies have been paying out more in claims and in expenses for homeowners insurance than they have been collecting in premiums."

The Mississippi Insurance Commission is expected to consider at its Sept. 21 meeting a request by the Insurance Services Office to increase homeowners rates 25 percent.

The last increase in homeowners rates was a 15-percent hike that took effect on Sept. 1, 1983. The companies had asked for a 36.8 percent increase, but the Insurance Commission approved the lower amount.

The 1983 increase was the first time that homeowners rates had been increased in Mississippi since the program was introduced in the state in 1976, the institute said.

"Although we are asking for only a 25-percent increase in our current filing, our statistics indicate that homeowners rates need to be increased 44.7 percent for the forms used for persons who own their homes and 65.7 percent for the forms used for renters and condominium owners," said Bud Covin, senior regional representative for ISO, Atlanta.

Methodism series continues with history of Main Street United Church

Article IX

By Mrs. Katrina O. McDonald

Though far from being one of Mississippi's largest Methodist churches, very few places of worship in the state have had as long and colorful a history as Main Street United Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis.

It was one of the coast area's earliest churches as reports show that the town was a "preaching place" as early as 1842.

The church was formally organized in 1852 by a local preacher, Mr. E.D. Pitts, who was also a school teacher.

The Bay was known at that time as Shieldsboro.

Worship services were held in a small building at the corner of Main and Second Streets on property given by John V. Toulme for a church.

By 1871, Bay St. Louis was one of the four most prominent preaching places on the Coast along with Biloxi, Hantsboro and Pass Christian.

In 1895 the present church building was erected. It is considered an outstanding example of Carpenter Gothic Architecture.

The glazing and installation of the original windows is of very fine quality workmanship.

In 1902, five lovely new memorial windows were added to the single one installed in the 1920's.

These later ones were designed and made by Milton Pounds of the Pounds Studio in New Orleans.

The church building was not completed until the turn of the century. In 1936 a six-classroom annex was constructed at the rear of the present sanctuary under the pastorate of Rev. J. Early Gray.

In 1944, Mr. A.C. Exnicious gave a plot of ground adjoining the church building lot and five years later, the church purchased a two story building on Main, next door known as the Maurigi Building.

This was used for years for Sunday School classes and youth activities. With the acquisition of this property, the church grounds covered nearly all of a small city block in the downtown area, adjacent to the Hancock County Courthouse.

Mrs. Exnicious made a gift to the church of the last $1,000 note due on the building.

In the 1950's, the annex was renovated and enlarged to include a pastor's study, a kitchen, dining room, fellowship hall and two dressing rooms.

In 1982, the first parsonage was built. In 1984 when a new parsonage was completed, five blocks from the church on the corner of Second Street and Timberlane, the old parsonage was utilized as an educational building.

This was torn down in the early 1970's and a fireproof modern educational building was constructed to house the entire Sunday School.

This building was dedicated Sept. 18,

1977, when the church celebrated its 125th anniversary.

In 1983 an enlarged and much needed pastor's study was built between the Educational Bldg. and the Fellowship Hall.

Waveland librarian saluted

BY JOE PILET

Mildred Means Appreciation Day was observed in Waveland Friday.

Mayor John Longo issued a proclamation setting aside Sept. 14 for this commemoration.

Who is Mildred Means? Ask anybody living in Hancock County and they will tell you she's the Waveland's public library—a sort of an institution!

Although Mildred was born in New Orleans, Hancock County has claimed her since October of 1968 when she served the area as an experimental book mobile librarian.

Mildred's traveling library made around 25 to 30 stops three days a week in a large bus loaded with a stock of books selected by the Mississippi Library Commission.

"It was a very good basic stock," Mildred commented.

Was the book mobile service well accepted? "Well, no, not to begin with. People were reluctant to sign anything. They were not familiar with the routine of borrowing books. Later on when more information about the service was learned they eagerly awaited the day of the 'stops' to make selections of reading matter," Means explained.

One of the major problems was that drivers of the Book Mobile would get bored and quit. Means had three different drivers, and finally decided it would be easier to just do the driving herself.

That worked out pretty well until an accident left her with a broken ankle.

That's when Grace Rhodes came on as an assistant.

"Grace was a blessing right from the start. She knew all the people in the county well, had a winning personality, and loved working with people," Mildred said. "Grace Rhodes has my love and appreciation. We were a good team."

When the library was housed on Ulman Avenue at Dunbar Means was relieved of the book mobile assignment and became book keeper and children's librarian.

"I enjoy people of all ages," she said, "however, I must admit that I am partial to young children—they let you know just how they feel about you."

Regardless of age, people in the Waveland community have let Mildred know just how they feel about her. The Garden Club let her know by supplying beautiful plants and flowers.

Ann Ashman and Dot Sutton were very active, as was Becky Weston who is especially remembered for her donations, digging and planting. Her plants have thrived.

May 6, 1983 is a day that Means remembers with mixed emotions.

How happy she was to see Waveland dedicating a new library building.

Everybody turned out for the ribbon cutting, the tour of the building and the delightful refreshments.

From the flag pole on the grounds waved a beautiful American Flag. It belonged to Means, and had special meaning. It was the flag that had covered her brother's casket, and by coincidence this day was his birth date anniversary.

Means never saw that flag again. It was stolen. "People steal big and beautiful flags," Mildred explained, "and that's why we now fly the small and inexpensive one you see today. At least it serves a purpose—it's emblematic and testimonial of our love of America."

Leaving Waveland Library is also viewed by Means with mixed emotions. She loves the patrons—and the work—and likes to be helpful to students doing research assignments. That she will miss. Her new work will be with St. Clare School. Here again she will be surrounded with students and books and music.

But an added attraction are the hours. No work during the summer months means time for travel. Longer after work hours mean time for recreation—and maybe an afternoon nap when a late evening is planned.

The flag will keep flying. The Waveland Library will continue to be the culture center that it is. Waveland is proud of its library.

Means will be missed behind that check out counter. Another voice will answer the phone.

That's why Mayor Longo felt patrons and friends should have a Mildred Means Appreciation Day set aside to wish her well.

Church of Jesus Christ

of Latter Day Saints

The Relief Society Organization of the Waveland Ward of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will hold its weekly meeting Sunday at 11:10 a.m. at the chapel on the corner of McLaurin Street and Nicholson Avenue, Waveland.

The title of this week's Social Relations lesson is "Compassionate Service."

"The objective of this lesson is to help women understand the nature of compassion and how to develop it," reports Elaine Ladner of Waveland, president of the Waveland organization.

"Any woman who is interested is invited to attend, and a nursery will be provided for children 18 months to 3 years of age," Ladner explained.

Also, Relief Society will hold its monthly homemaking meeting Wednesday.

The meeting will be at 10 a.m. with a repeat session to be held at 7 p.m. Both sessions will be held at the Waveland Chapel.

This month's home management lesson which will be taught at both sessions is entitled, "Ever-ready."

The objective is to help each woman evaluate her food storage and determine what she needs to help her family become self-sustaining.

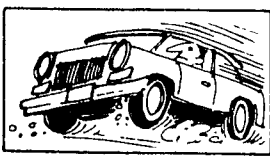

Mini-classes will be conducted at both sessions on Home Beautification presented by Vicki Homer of Kiln, and on Quilting presented by Iona Wainwright of Waveland. Please bring a 14-inch square of material for use in the class.

Two additional mini-classes will be conducted at the morning session only on Food Preparation and Storage presented by Virdee Orrels of Kiln, and a Christmas Craft class presented by Memory Ladner of Fenton.

A charge of $2 is required to cover cost of materials in this class.

A nursery will be provided for preschool children over the age of 18 months.

These meetings are open to all interested women regardless of religious denomination.

Most automobile trips in the U.S. are under 5 miles.

ETV Brief

ETV OPERA

The acclaimed production of "I, Leonardo: A Journey of the Mind" starring Frank Langella as Leonardo da Vinci makes its public television debut at 7 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 23 on Mississippi ETV. It was first aired last year on commercial television to rave notices.

The late Richard Burton narrates the program, and Walter Cronkite is host. The hour-long program charts the life of Leonardo from the height of his achievement at 45, to the isolation of his retirement in France, focusing on the scientific, philosophical and artistic aspects of his genius.

The dialogue is taken from the 8,000 pages of notebooks that Leonardo compiled during his lifetime.

Often dismissed as an egocentric and later ignored by patrons because of his reputation for not completing commissioned works, Leonardo anticipated many of the theories of Galileo, Newton and Einstein.

His writings include theories on gravity, astronomy, mechanics, anatomy, the properties of water and the mysteries of flight.

PAINLESS Hair Removal

Our method is safe, effective, and best of all "ouchless." You feel no pain because unlike the old method of electrolysis there are no needles used... just an electronic instrument that never touches the skin, and the result is permanent.

Because nothing penetrates the skin, there's no swelling or redness... you can even wear makeup immediately after treatment.

Bay High's Tiger Pride Band Boosters are sponsoring a Flea Market on Saturday, Sept. 22.

The Flea Market is to be held in Hancock Bank's US-90 parking lot from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Many of the Tiger Pride Boosters are very busy collecting items in order for the flea market to be successful.

If you have some items you no longer have a need for and would like to donate them to a good cause, call Shirley Welch at 467-3464 or Virginia Wilson at 467-7776. We hope the sale is successful.

We hear a large number of complaints about the illegal dumping of garbage and debris throughout our cities and county.

People dumping bags of garbage in people's yards, on lawns and on vacant property.

Things like this appears to be happening everyday inside and outside of our city limits.

It is hope more pride is taken and garbage and trash is properly disposed of by everyone.

No matter where one looks, debris seems to be plentiful in our area.

We are hoping everyone will do their part on beautification.

Tomorrow Constitution Week begins for the United States and will be recognized by posters being placed by National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution chapters throughout the country.

There are many business establishments and even home owners who display American Flags throughout the year and we hope more will next week.

The Constitution of the United States was drafted in 1787, ratified in 1788, and took effect in 1789, and we are fast reaching our 200 anniversary.

Remember, our Constitution is one all Americans should be very proud of living under.

M E C

FREE ENTERPRISE

Free enterprise is at work in America.

Less than two years out of one of the worst recessions in recent American history, five million more Americans are at work than ever before.

At the depth of the recession of the early '80s, 10.7 percent of the American labor force was out of work; by June of this year, unemployment had declined to 7.1 percent and American business had created 6.8 million jobs, not only recovering the lost ground of the recession but making up for lost time.

It is no coincidence that the strongest recovery in employment is being matched by an even stronger recovery in investment, with business investment in plants and equipment more than doubling the increase for any recovery since 1949.

Investment in new plants and equipment in America increased by about 25 percent in the first six quarters of this recovery, compared to an average increase of about 8 percent in each of the recoveries since 1960 which lasted this long.

It is interesting to note that while the United States has been making this rapid recovery, Great Britain still has a 13 percent unemployment rate, Holland's rate of unemployment is at 17 percent, and the Belgium rate is over 13 percent.

It is also interesting to note that in all those countries, government spending accounts for about one half or more of the national output of goods and services; in the United States, government spending accounts for about one third.

At a time when the nation is in the midst of a strong economic recovery, brought about by private business, it is appropriate that we recommit ourselves to the principles of the free enterprise system, and that we renew our commitment to passing on the virtues and values of that system to every generation of Americans.

Fair participants treasure appreciation letters

Dear Editor:

In truth this letter should be addressed as an "open letter" to United States Senator John C. Stennis and to Mrs. Patricia M. Harvill, president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Promptly after Hancock County Day at the 1984 World's Fair letters beautifully worded and personally signed were sent to those participating in that event.

So appreciated were these messages until Mrs. Philip Davenport, regent of the Friendship Chapter NS DAR presented her letter at a recent regular meeting of the Daughters.

Elsworth Collins, whose exhibit of a hand-carved three ring circus was so enthusiastically received, plans to frame his letters.

Mr. Collins said: "I spent a $100 dollars out-of-pocket money on my display and Lord only knows how many hours, but it was surely worth it to me. Just think! People from all over the world came and saw a bit of Hancock County. I am proud to be a citizen here."

Sincerely,
Joe Pilet

A PROCLAMATION
BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the United States of America will celebrate the 177th anniversary of the drafting of its Constitution in 1784; and

WHEREAS, it is a privilege for the American people to live in a country founded under a code of laws such as the Constitution of the United States; and

WHEREAS, the State of Mississippi wishes to express gratitude to our founding fathers for their foresight in creating this magnificent document granting to each of us the rights of a free and independent people guided by a unique code of justice:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, William A. Allain, Governor of the State of Mississippi, do hereby proclaim September 17-23, 1984, as in Mississippi, and urge all Mississippians to recognize the importance of our Constitution and to express gratitude for the privilege of living under the code of laws outlined in the Constitution of the United States of America.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Mississippi to be affixed.

DONE at the Capitol in the City of Jackson, the 16th day of July in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and eighty-four, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the two hundred and ninth.

BY THE GOVERNOR:

SECRETARY OF STATE

WARREN E. BURGER

Editor's Note: Warren E. Burger, chief justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, in the following article notes that for nearly 200 years the Constitution has secured the freedoms that have unleashed the creative energies of Americans.

The U.S. Constitution was an unprecedented departure from the forms of government that preceded it, and after almost 200 years its success is a great source of national pride. September 17 is Constitution Day, and for this occasion Chief Justice Burger reflects on the elements that have made our experiment in self government a success.

THE BLESSINGS OF LIBERTY - A CONSTITUTION DAY MEMORIAL

By Warren E. Burger

When the Constitutional Convention of 1787 had finished its work, a Philadelphia woman is said to have asked Benjamin Franklin what kind of government the Convention had created. The elder statesman is said to have replied: "Madam, a Republic, if you can keep it."

Even as avid a lover of liberty and independence as Franklin seemed to have doubts whether our great experiment in self-government would succeed.

But after nearly 200 years Henry Steele Commager, reviewing centuries of struggle for freedom, said, "nothing ever succeeded like America."

The success of America's great experiment with a new form of government under a written Constitution was surely aided by Divine Providence, as so many of its authors said, and by three temporal factors: our geographic isolation on a continent with vast resources far from the quarrels of Europe, the uniqueness of the institutions we created, the personal qualities of the remarkable leaders and a people who had known oppression.

Indeed, history offers no parallel of 3-4 million people producing a galaxy of leaders such as those who brought about the Declaration of Independence and drafted the Constitution of the United States—and then made it work. The Constitution secured a system of ordered liberty that has permitted individuals to enjoy freedom unsurpassed in the course of human history.

As we look forward to celebrating our Constitution's Bicentennial, we must all reexamine and rededicate ourselves to the principles of freedom consistent with constitutionally limited government and ordered liberty. Six spheres of freedom lie at the heart of the Constitution and the American way of life.

First: Each of the three branches of our national government must remain strong, independent and coequal.

But that does not preclude coordination, chiefly between the Executive and Legislative branches. The Principle of separation of powers clearly implies that the distinct and independent powers of government must be harmonized into a workable whole.

Second: Our system of free government embodies a dual constitutional system in providing for a national government while preserving certain powers of the states. In our system of federalism, the 50 states, of course, cannot exercise leadership in a national sense, but they are entitled to exercise their independence and freedom over their own affairs.

By the end of the 20th century our population will have grown to nearly 100 times the figure of 1776. Changes in the world and at home demand that the interrelationships of federal and state governments be given fresh examination from time to time.

Third: The great non-governmental institutions of America—the churches, colleges and universities, the press, museums and hospitals have developed because they were free from governmental control. Taken all together, where is there a parallel elsewhere in the world?

They must remain free, for their contributions to research, invention, culture, public enlightenment and health are beyond measure. These independent institutions have opened floodgates of knowledge and awareness of our world, and have stimulated invention and technology, because a new kind of freedom of the mind and the spirit was released.

Our system of ordered institutional liberty is always in peril. In this century, world events, economic changes, and tremendous growth have made some of our great institutions increasingly dependent on nationally financed and administered programs.

These diverse, pluralistic organizations cannot retain their independence, individuality, and creativity if central power is allowed to dominate, and devour them; there must be a prudent balance.

Fourth: Freedom of speech, press, association, and religion contributed immeasurably to our development. In the years of America's formation, from at least 1770 onward, free speech from pulpits, platforms, and open-air meetings flourished.

Freedom of the press was vigorously enjoyed by newspapers and pamphlets, many of whose authors signed the Declaration and later the Constitution.

Without these freedoms, it is doubtful whether the people would have banded together to win the revolution—a struggle we barely won—or whether, later, the Constitution would have been ratified.

Fifth: In these two centuries an independent legal profession has played a pivotal role in preserving freedom. American history is replete with examples of lawyers' courage in the struggle to vindicate rights. History records the so-called "Boston Massacre of 1770," in which Americans were killed by British soldiers. The soldiers, charged with murder, asked John Adams to defend them. He did so, knowing well that in the heated atmosphere of that day it might spell the end of his career as lawyer and political leader.

A Boston jury acquitted the soldiers; yet the people so valued Adams' courage—and Independence that they sought his leadership as one of the authors of the Declaration and as our second President. In the two centuries, since John Adams, countless thousands of lawyers have met their high professional obligations with this same dedication to liberty.

Finally, we commemorate and celebrate the independence of those in whose hands ultimately rests the protection of all our independence: the state and federal judges who construe the Constitution and interpret the laws in the pursuit of justice.

England's judges had essentially established their independent status by the time of the Revolution; had that same independence been extended to the Royal judges sitting in the 13 colonies, one of the major grievances recited in the Declaration—that King George III had "made Judges dependent on his will alone, for the Tenure of their Offices, and the Amount and Payment of their Salaries," would have been met.

The Colonists, having suffered under Royalist judges who were not independent of the King, made certain that Federal judges would be wholly independent, by the express provision that Federal judges be subject to removal from office only by impeachment processes in the House and Senate.

There were and are risks involved in placing so much power in the hands of independent judges. It can be defended only as a calculated risk taken on the assumption that judges will exercise their great powers with restraint, and that the selection process, with the safeguard of Senate confirmation, will minimize those risks. History has vindicated that choice.

The freedoms secured and maintained by our Constitution have served to unleash the latent creative energies of a free people for two centuries.

We are all trustees of those freedoms and as such, it is a solemn duty to pass them on, unimpaired, to those who follow us. Only then can our descendants apply to their own new and complex problems that same kind of creativity, ingenuity and responsibility that the Declaration of Independence promised in 1776 and the Constitution secured in 1787. On this path, we will continue the legacy of ordered liberty.

Hospital restricts bill inquiry hours

Questions concerning hospital bills and insurance should be addressed to patient counselors at Hancock General Hospital on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Terry Romine, business office manager at HGH, said the new policy is part of a restructuring program in the business office.

Clients may call the hospital at 467-9081 to make an appointment for Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. or they may call on those days during those times to discuss their questions on the telephone, Romine said.

Ms. Carol Barrack is assigned to patients whose last names begin with the letters A through K, and Ms. Marlene Purcell, is counselor to patients with last names beginning with L through Z.

Hospital seminars to eye Medicare payment systems

"Medicare and How It Works" will be the theme of a series of public seminars sponsored by Hancock General Hospital.

Classes are scheduled for Wednesdays, Sept. 19 and 26, at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. both days.

The seminar, to be conducted by members of the business office at HGH, will address such topics as how Parts A and B of Medicare work, copayments, deductibles and inpatient charges.

"With the advent of the new Medicare payment system, many questions have arisen over how Medicare works and how it now pays hospital charges," said Phil Langston, hospital administrator, "and our business office personnel feel these seminars will help the public to better understand the new system."

Each class, which will last approximately two hours, is limited to 20 participants, and those wishing to attend should register in advance by calling Mary Perkins of the hospital's community relations office at 467-9081, extension 165.

HOW DO YOU WARN CHILDREN ABOUT SEXUAL ABUSE WITHOUT FRIGHTENING THEM?

Help is at hand. Practical guidelines on preventing the sexual abuse of youngsters will be presented in five television programs aimed at adults, teens and children. The host for "Preventing Child Sexual Abuse" is Mike Farrell.

A Program for Parents looks at the sexual abuse of children, likely victims, typical offenders and protective methods. Monday, September 17, at 8 p.m.

A Program for Kindergarten through Third Grade uses storytelling techniques and "what-if?" games to help children develop coping strategies for tough situations. Tuesday, September 18, at 8 p.m.

A Program for Fourth through Seventh Grade deals with children's problems associated with baby-sitters, sex-role stereotypes and communicating with parents. Tuesday, September 18, at 8:30 p.m.

A Program for Junior and Senior High School presents a play, "No Easy Answers," to illustrate the uncomfortable and sometimes dangerous situations young people encounter in adolescence and ways to cope with them. Wednesday, September 19, at 8 p.m.

A Program for Senior High School examines the phenomenon of "date-rape"—the most frequent form of sexual assault occurring among teens. Thursday, September 20, at 9 p.m.

Rockachaws on a roll, ground Eagles 21-14

By Tom Ackerman
Echo Correspondent

Looking for a replay of their win over the Hancock North Central Hawks the week before, the Saint Stanislaus Rockachaws clipped the wings of the St. John's Eagles with a 21-14 victory Friday at the SSC stadium.

On their way to the win, their second of two outings, the Rocks thought for a while it might be a "replay" they hadn't anticipated.

"I could see memories of last year," Rock head coach Vernon Powell noted, "when we lost to St. John's. In last season's meeting, we were determined not to let it happen again."

And that determination was evident 12 minutes after St. John hit the Rocks 7-0 with a 12 showing on the clock after a field goal.

The Rocks started their drive for the first TD at their own 19. On fourth down, the Rocks set up for their first play. Quarterback Chris Brignac, who had connected on a pass to running back Mark Otto carried to the line of scrimmage on the first down.

Brignac brought the Eagles to the line of scrimmage on a play that was good, and the Rocks took the lead for their first time during the game.

In their eyes, and determined to halt the Eagles' momentum, the Rockachaws came back and scored two plays in just a little over a minute.

On the first play, Rock Todd Thriffley carried the ball 32 yards. Then, on the second play, SSC quarterback Scardino, Thriffley scurried to the right side for a 68-yard run to tie the game with 4:22 left in the period.

Rock Matt Spornio's kick was blocked by a defender, and the Rocks held a 14-7 advantage.

Carrying to their own 28 on the reception, the Eagles were halted on the third play of the series when Rock Linebacker Joe Golmon intercepted a St. John pass and carried to the 14.

Thriffley scampered to the 7 on the next play, and SSC fullback Chuck Yarborough powered up the middle to the one yard line; first and ten, goal to go.

Stanislaus moved to the 24. And with 7:58 left in the third quarter, Scardino hit split end David Zanca with a pass for the score.

Spornio's kick split the uprights, and

On second down, Yarborough did a replay, and nose-dived for the turf. SSC 20, Eagles 7, with 3:31 left in the period. Spornio made it three for three, and the Rockachaws had a little breathing room.

Controlling the ball for most of the first five minutes of the fourth quarter, the Eagles drove from the SSC 45 to pick up another TD and PAT, bringing the score to 21-14.

Picking up four first downs, St. John's moved to within a yard and a half of the line, and with 4:37 left to play, Eagle Running back Jimmy Van Alstyne powered over from the one.

The Rocks took over on their own 10 and controlled the ball for the rest of the game to insure the win.

And according to Rock coach Vernon Powell, that ball control was the key to the win. "We knew we had to control the ball," he said, commenting on the game plan. "We didn't throw as much as we did against Hancock; we kept the ball on the ground. That was the difference—we drove the ball."

"It was a combination of aggressive play of the defensive line that allowed the offense to control the ball," Powell continued. "That gave us good field position."

Powell singled out in particular the offensive and defensive play of Rock senior guard and defensive end Jordan Bradford. Bradford made several key tackles and sacked the Eagles quarterback leading to the Rocks third TD.

And noting the leadership of all the seniors on the squad, Powell added: "They dug down deep and came on strong."

"It took St. John's eleven plays to put it in for their first touchdown," he continued. "We made 'em earn it. We were determined not to give up the big play. We knew they were well prepared for us."

Looking forward to next Saturday when the Rockachaws will travel to Mercy Cross in Biloxi, the coach emphasized that the two wins under their belt won't give Stanislaus and room for slacking off.

"We're not overconfident and cocky," he noted. "We've still got many things to work on."

the Rocks held a 14-7 advantage.

Carrying to their own 28 on the reception, the Eagles were halted on the third play of the series when Rock Linebacker Joe Golmon intercepted a St. John pass and carried to the 14.

Thriffley scampered to the 7 on the next play, and SSC fullback Chuck Yarborough powered up the middle to the one yard line; first and ten, goal to go.

Hawk ninth grade defeats Blue Devils

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hancock North Central Ninth Grade Hawks shutout Pearl River Central Blue Devils 22-0 Thursday night.

Joe Shaw's Hawks offense scored three touchdowns in the first half. Hancock took a 8-0 lead with a 27 yard pass play to Bryon Peterson from quarterback Jeff Moran, followed by a two point conversion pass from Moran to Vincent Cuevas.

Scoring continued in the second quarter when Peterson and Moran teamed up with a pass play for 46 yards. The PAT was missed, giving the Hawks a 14-0 lead.

Bernard Burton, Hawk fullback scored on a 31 yard run late in the second quarter followed by a Moran to Peterson pass for a two point conversion.

Shaw said, "The Hawks played a tremendous defensive game winning by a shutout the second game in a row. Our offense had a very good first half."

The Blue Devils only threatened late in the fourth quarter.

Some of the outstanding Hawk players were Brian Meyers, cornerback who intercepted a Pearl River pass, and outside linebacker Joey Lovelace who recovered a fumble and scampered for a 25 yard score, only to be called back after a clip.

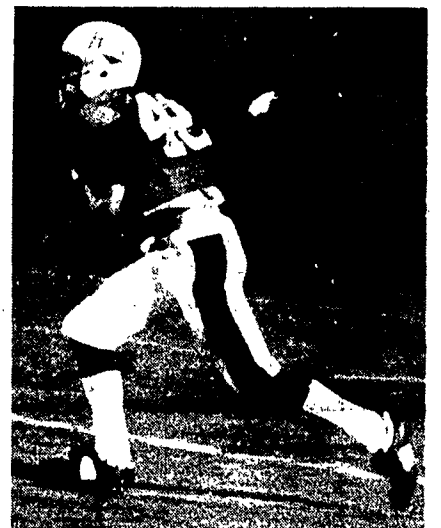

The young Hawks are coached by Shaw who is assisted by Terry Payne, and Ray Billeaud.

Next Thursday ninth grade Hawks will play Stone County who defeated Bay High 14-8 last week, and St. Stanislaus 34-32 this week.

The Hawks first season victory was over Stanislaus 36-0 who are now 2-0 in the Deep South Conference Play.

HAPPY ROCKS—David Zanca, No. 28, of St. Stanislaus is held high by teammate as Todd Thriffley pats him on back after Zanca scored go-ahead touchdown in action against St. John's Eagles on Friday in Rock-A-Chaw stadium. Pass comes back to sink Bay High

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Pass Christian Pirates scored two quick touchdowns in opening minutes Friday to go on to a 26-13 victory over Bay High.

The Tigers rallied to tie the score before the second quarter ended at 13-13.

The score remained a tie until late in the third quarter when a fumble was recovered by Pirate Alan Dedeaux on their own 34 that led to a score.

The game was filled with long plays for both teams, with many drives being stopped by fumbles or intercepted passes.

Cleveland Williams, Tiger head coach said at the end of the game that he was proud of his team's play.

Williams said, "Injuries had forced us to use three rookies, and with players having to play both offense and defense, they began to wear down in the second half."

"We were down very fast 13-0, yet we came back and tied the score, and continued to play good football. A few mistakes hurt us as well as Pass Christian. The Pirates are a good team," Williams added.

Alton Wright, Pirate head coach said, "It feels great to win, a lot of players did a fine job on both offense and defense."

"We controlled the game early, and had a little let down in the second quarter, yet we rebounded in the second half to gain the victory. We realize injuries to key players have hurt Bay High's squad, and we had to earn the victory," Wright added.

Both Wright and Williams are in their first year as head high school coaches and were seeking victory number one. The Tigers first play from scrimmage was a pass intercepted by Tony Howell of the Pirates on Bay High's 17 yard line.

Five plays later Howell scored giving the Pirates a 7-0 lead after the PAT.

Pass kicked off to Bay High who took over on their 23 yard line. On a running play to their left, a fumble was recovered by Winston Ausmer who rammed in for a score.

The PAT was missed giving Pass a 13-0 lead.

The Tigers came back strong with Jeffrey Smith completing a 53 yard pass play to Eddie Nelson on the Pirate 22.

Bay High bogged down and turned the ball over to the Pirates on downs. Pass Christian was stopped on their own 46 by an interception by Nelson who also played defense.

Two plays later Matt Fairconnetue scampered for a 46 yard score on a hand-off for a score cutting the Pirate lead to 13-7 after the PAT.

In the second quarter, the Tigers and Pirates paraded up and down the field unable to score.

Bay High tied the score with 1:13 left when Smith threw a pass to Richard Whavers for a 51 yard play to tie the score.

Coach Wright of the Pirates said,

"We wanted to throw the ball against the Tigers and they would not let us, so we worked on our running game."

In the second half the running of Howell and Ausmer who were rotated by Wright began to take charge of the tempo of the game.

Howell scored for the Pirates on a 15 yard run with 1:40 left in the third quarter. The PAT was missed.

A Mark Boyd interception led to Howell's second score for the Pirates giving them a 26-13 lead after the PAT was made.

Among the standout players for Bay High were Jeffrey Smith, Jerry Head, Eddie Nelson, Richard Whavers, and Matt Fairconnetue.

Standouts for Pass Christian included Joey Rogers, Tony Howell, Winston Ausmer, Alan Dedeaux, Anthony Woods, and Mark Boyd.

The sportsmanship of players on both teams was evident throughout the entire game.

As the whistle ended the game, the Tiger and Pirate players greeted and congratulated each other on a good football game.

Bay High next week journeys to Pearl River Central while Pass Christian will visit the St. Martin Yellow Jackets.

Blue Devils capitalize on Hawk turnovers for convincing victory

By EDGAR PEREZ

Costly fumbles and interceptions erased any chance Hancock North Central may have had of making its mark in Carriere Friday night against the superior Blue Devils.

The Hawks, underdogs going into the fray, tied the ball game in the second quarter and trailed by a slim six entering the second half.

But Pearl River Central jacked up its 13-7 lead midway through the third stanza to a 21-7 edge and scored again late in the period, settling into a comfortable 27-7 lead.

The Hawk defense overruled any further scoring by the Devils, but the HNC offense sacrificed its own scoring potential with a fumble followed immediately by an interception on their next possession.

But never-say-die Hawk tailback Charles Burton eased the pain of the Hawk defeat late in the final quarter with sensational successive plays on defense and offense.

Burton broke up a PRC fourth-down touchdown pass attempt in the Hawk endzone with little more than a minute left in the game.

On the following play, with the Hawks in possession on their own 18, Burton broke through the PRC secondary and raced all the way for an 82-yard touchdown.

A two-point conversion try failed but the Hawks continued to scramble with recovery of an on-sides kickoff near mid-field.

The Blue Devil defense successfully contained the Hawks and took over the ball again at the 50, happy to let the clock run out with the final tally fixed at 27-13.

A hard-nosed effort by the Hawks Friday night was simply overwhelmed by the devastating, triple-pronged attack of the Blue Devils led by quarterback Gerald Tillman, wide receiver Jonathan Carter and running back Jason Owen.

The 184-pound Owen crashed continuously through the Hawk forward wall.

BURTON ON DEFENSE—Hancock North Central tailback Charles Burton (30) leaps high in his own endzone to break up a Pearl River Central touchdown pass attempt on fourth down in the closing seconds of Friday's game at Carriere. On the following play, Burton raced 82 yards for a Hawk touchdown. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Tillman completed nine of 22 passes attempted, and unerringly kept his throws out of the hands of the Hawk defenders all evening.

The Hawks, on the other hand, allowed four interceptions on 14 tries with four completions.

HNC, however, picked up 115 yards passing to only 93 for PRC.

The Devils outclassed the Hawks on the ground with a total of 220 yards rushing to 104, picking up 13 first downs to eight for the Hawks.

Penalties also hurt HNC with nine called infractions resulting in the loss of 110 yards, leaving the Hawks with a negative total on the ground.

PRC lost 50 yards on four penalties.

Billy Davis punted twice for the Hawks for a 44-yard average, compared to a slight 26-yard average on three punts by PRC.

Hancock fumbled four times and lost two while PRC lost one bobbie.

initiate a ten-play drive from its own 33 to the Hancock endzone where Tillman drove in from the ten on a keeper four minutes into the quarter.

Tight end Adrian Lumpkin kicked the extra point.

Owen interrupted the Hawks' first drive with an interception at his own 34. And in a turn-about, HNC's fullback Stanley Jourdan hit a PRC receiver, knocked the ball loose, and Drew Malley snagged the errant aerial and raced 40 yards to the PRC 34.

The Hawks struggled through a 14-play series before Burton charged around right end to post HNC's first six in the opening minutes of the second period.

PRC promptly snatched back the lead when Owen raced 44 yards to score in the following minute, pushing the Devils ahead again 13-7 with 9:34 showing on the clock.

Tillman attempted to recover from a bad snap on the conversion try by running the ball but failed to make it into the endzone.

PRC scored on its opening drive in the second half when Tillman at the HNC 34 hit Carter at the 10. Carter went in for the touchdown 4.5 minutes into the third period, and subsequently snagged a Tillman toss for two points, giving the Devils a 21-7 edge at that point.

Pearl River came back on the next play to bag a Hancock kickoff return fumble at the 50.

Owen led an eight-play drive down to the Hawk four where he scored with less than four minutes left in the period. Lumpkin's extra point kick was blocked, leaving PRC ahead 27-7.

Burton's closing seconds touchdown climaxed the action at 27-13, Devils.

"I'm proud of our kids, they played hard football against a good offensive unit," Hawk head coach Irvin Favre commented after the game.

"In addition to the fact Pearl River didn't make any mistakes, we were hurt when Steve McQueen and Jourdan were shaken up and had to leave the game," the coach added.

Favre said he was pleased with the fan turnout at Carriere, expressing a promise the Hawks will be pushing hard to break into the win column this season against Stone County at Hawk Stadium Friday.

Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m. Pearl River Central will host Bay High in Carriere this week, also with a 7:30 p.m. kickoff Friday.

Miramar residents compete

Seven residents from Miramar Lodge Nursing Home recently traveled to the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg to compete with residents of eight other nursing homes and I.C.F./M.R. facilities in the first Regional Senior Olympics and Craft Fair.

The event was sponsored by The Mississippi Health Care Association.

The events consisted of wheelchair, relay and walker races, discus throw (Frisbee), shot-put (softball), bean bag toss, horseshoes, banner and arts/crafts competition. Miramar's residents returned with 13 ribbons and the first place trophy for best overall competition.

The residents who participated and their awards include:

Bertha Cruthirds, second in ceramic crafts, second in crochet crafts, third in stuffed crafts and second in wheelchair race; Pat Thompson, first in shot-put (softball), first in discus throw (Frisbee) and second in relay race; Genevieve Adams, second in relay race and third in discus throw (Frisbee); and Mollie Waddell, second in wheelchair race and second in relay race.

Also included were Nell Helveston, third in arts/crafts (painting); Belle Culpepper, third in walker race; and Wilburn Payne, Miramar's only male participant, who received a ribbon for sportsmanship.

As a result of their over-all winnings they became eligible for the state competition in Jackson.

In state competition, Aug. 24, Mrs. Mollie Waddell was presented the first gold and silver medals for her crafts, and Mrs. Pat Thompson won a gold medal for first place in the games (Frisbee throw, 52 feet).

COUNTY BUILDING CODE—Herbert "Skip" Marsh of the Shoreline Park Civic Association asks the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to place a referendum enacting a county building code on the November ballot. The board turned the request down at its Thursday meeting. (Staff photo by Dena Blissette) public vote.

Instead, the bill would allow the board to enact building codes for only parts of the county, such as Shoreline Park.

Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner said he felt the people in his beat, many of whom live inside the city limits and are therefore affected by city building codes, should not have to help pay for the enforcement of a county building code.

He feels that enacting a building code in only parts of the county would alleviate the problem.

In a related matter, Association President Malcolm Tullier addressed the board on the possibility of enacting a septic tank code.

He asked Gex for an opinion on whether such a code would fall under the jurisdiction of the county or the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District.

Gex said the county and the wastewater district have concurrent jurisdiction, but added that the wastewater district does not have the personnel necessary to enforce a septic tank code.

Tullier said he had already addressed wastewater district officials on the matter and had been referred to the board of supervisors.

According to Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge, who said he obtained the information from the county health department, there is already a statewide septic tank code.

Tullier said the association has already discussed the problem with county health department officials and were unable to obtain help with enforcing the state code.

Association representative Clayton Lewis suggested that the county apply for a blighted area grant from Housing and Urban Development to help alleviate some of the worst sewage problems in the county.

Gex told him that the wastewater district is currently working on funding for a long-term project that will eventually eliminate the problem.

Courge, however, asked the board for a motion requesting that the State Health Department provide building permits for home sewage treatment systems, saying such a move might provide more immediate help for the problem.

The motion was approved by the board.

Driver arrested in connection with accident

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Bay St. Louis Police Department has made an arrest in connection with a one-vehicle accident on Dunbar Avenue on the morning of Sept. 1, according to Joe Pica, Bay St. Louis police investigator.

On Thursday Pica said, "Michael Miller, 18, Camille Trailer Park, Waveland was arrested on Sept. 7 and charged with grand larceny auto."

Police were seeking the driver of a stolen vehicle who fled the scene leaving a trail of blood.

A preliminary hearing has been rescheduled before Bay Municipal Judge Joseph Benvenuti, after a delay was granted on Wednesday for Miller to have time to secure the services of an attorney, Pica stated.

Bond to be assessed damages on airport job

By DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission and the Board of Supervisors have decided to assess about $89,000 in liquidated damages against a contractor who failed to complete two projects at Stennis Airport on schedule.

The damages will be withheld from about $43,600 in payments to Bond Paving for the construction of a hangar apron and a taxiway, both of which should have been completed about 10 months ago.

Both projects are nearing completion now, according to Port and Harbor Commission Director James DeBlanc.

The commission discussed the amount of damages to be assessed at its meeting Wednesday night and DeBlanc presented the results to the supervisors for approval Thursday morning.

Assessed damages include loss of rental income from Hangar B, the hangar for which Bond constructed the apron; payment to Chandler Construction, the hangar contractor, for delays allegedly caused by Bond; and extra inspections and engineering.

Andy Ewing of Bay Aviation, the firm in charge of leasing the hangar, and his attorney Michael Haas appeared before the commission Wednesday to request that $15,000 of the damages assessed for loss of hangar rental be paid to Bay Aviation.

No decision has been made on the request at this time.

Board attorney Walter Gex III said he had discussed the damages with Bond's attorney, Jack Parsons of Wiggins, early Thursday morning and was told Parsons believes that many of the items charged back to his client may not be recoverable.

Parsons said Friday in a telephone interview from his Wiggins office that he had not yet received notification of the exact amount of damages assessed against his client.

However, he said he does plan to take legal action if the amount is too high. He indicated that he considers $89,000 excessive but said he still has to discuss the matter with his client.

Gex suggested postponing action on the commission's recommendation until some of the legal questions have been discussed but the board could not do so because Thursday was the final deadline for approval.

The board approved the payments and withholding of the damages to allow the commission to submit the bill for the two projects to the Federal Aviation Administration.

The projects are being paid for with FAA funds, and FAA Project Engineer Bill House told the commission Wednesday that the FAA will approve the commission recommendation on damages according to contract unless there is litigation on the matter.

FAA approval of payment for the project is also contingent on the completion of a final punch list of items by Bond Paving.

Also approved was the payment of a corrected invoice to Gulf Cities Laboratories. The invoice was presented to the commission Monday but a dispute arose over the correct amount of the bill.

According to Michael Smith of Advanced Development Inc., the engineering firm for the project, some of the tests listed on the invoice should not have been charged to the county.

After discussing the matter with attorneys for Gulf Cities and the commission, the invoice was corrected to split the difference between the original amount billed and the amount Smith claimed was correct, paying Gulf Cities $2451.

Final payments to Advanced Development Inc. were also approved.

Nominations due for PRC Alumnus of The Year

Pearl River College's Alumnus of the Year will be selected Tuesday by the Board of directors of the Pearl River College Alumni Association.

The selection will be announced Saturday, Oct. 13 at the Alumni Banquet as part of Pearl River College's 75th Homecoming celebration.

Enoch Seal, secretary of the Alumni Association and academic dean at PRC, said the Alumni Board of Directors, which includes two representatives from each of PRC's six supporting counties, will begin considering nominations at 7 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Administration Building.

Personal nominations may be presented to the Board, however, Seal should be notified in advance that a nomination is going to be made. Resumes will also be accepted until the meeting starts.

The Pearl River College Alumni by-laws specify that the Alumnus of the Year is the highest honor presented by the Association. Emphasis will be placed on the individual's support of Pearl River College and to education.

Resumes should be mailed to Enoch Seal, Station A, Box 158, Poplarville, Ms. 39470. For more information call Seal at 601-795-4558.

Next meeting of the group will be October 4.

Pass Christian Garden Club

The Pass Christian Garden Club held its first meeting of the fiscal year 1984-85 September 6 at the Hancock Bank Annex.

President Mrs. John J. Drevar introduced the new officers: 1st Vice President, Mrs. Roanld Santo; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Robert Doe; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Morgan Lyon; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Robert Leapey; Treasurer, Mrs. A.H. Lasseigne; Parliamentarian, Mrs. John Audley, and Historian, Mrs. Frank Juge.

Membership Chairman Mrs. Daniel Sentilles announced and the president welcomed the following new members: Mrs. Alfred E. Abanza, Mrs. Harry Blankenship, Mrs. Paul G. Bode, Mrs. Kenneth Newton, Sarah Colawa, Mrs. Martin Kelly, and Mrs. James C. Yaeger.

Mrs. Drevar stated that March 21 is the established date for the Pass Christian Pilgrimage, but that final plans had not been decided.

Mrs. R. Kitts Wallace, Wild Flower Garden chairman, described the progress that had been made during the summer toward repairing the vandalism damage that has been inflicted on the garden, and the membership voted unanimously to continue the effort to maintain the garden.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. Wallace presented a program featuring Oriental flower arranging, emphasizing how much can be done to please the eye with so little material.

The new officers were the hostesses for the day.

Seals—Lee

The couple will reside in Leetown.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Seals and Milton Seals of Beaumont, Tx.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Harris and family of Bush, La., and Ms. Gerty Seymour of Biloxi.

Pre-nuptial Parties

A miscellaneous shower was given in the home of Mrs. Ann Rester. A household shower was given in the fellowship hall of Union Baptist Church and a lingerie shower was given in the home of the bride by Suzette Cuevas and Cheryl Pittman, cousins of the bride.

MR. AND MRS. BOBBY SEALS

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride wore a gown of white chantilly lace in cascading ruffles that swept to a cathedral length train. Chantilly lace with seed pearls and sequins scalloped the sabrina neckline. She wore a bridal hat covered with chiffon overlayed with Alencon lace, seed pearls, oats and an illusion pouf with streamers.

She carried a cascade of red roses trimmed in tiny white flowers, red ribbon, lace, pearls and baby's breath.

Suzette Necaise of Crane Creek attended the bride as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Ellyn Minus of Bay St. Louis; Mary Cuevas of Long Beach, Brenda Cuevas of Kiln, and Suzette Cuevas, all cousins of the bride; and Jennifer Rester, cousin of the groom of Leetown.

The attendants were attired in antebellum red taffeta, off the shoulder gowns, accented with white lace ruffles, with scalloped layered ruffles at hemline. They carried nosegays of red roses, baby's breath, and red satin streamers.

Alecia Lee of Leetown, cousin of the bride and Sterlin Kuhlman of Leetown, cousin of the groom, served as miniature bride, groom, and ring bearer. Mendy Smith of Leetown and Kristen Stasney of Bassfield, Ms. were flower girls.

Donnie Kuhlman of Leetown, cousin of the groom, served the groom as best man.

Groomsmen were Kenny Seals and Otho Seals of Leetown, brothers of groom; Kent Malley of Fenton; Milton Seals of Beaumont, Tx., and Norman Rester of Leetown, cousins of the groom.

Ushers were A.J. Cuevas of Kiln, uncle of bride; Jay Cuevas of Kiln, cousin of bride; Frank Lee, and James Rester, uncle of groom, both of Leetown.

Mrs. Cheryl Necaise chose for her daughter's wedding a mauve-pink chiffon floor length, sun top gown with a chiffon overlay. She wore a white carnation.

The groom's mother chose a periwinkle blue, sun back, floor length gown with a lace jacket.

Following the wedding a reception was held at Jourdan River Shores Clubhouse in Kiln.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace table cloth and centered with a six tiered wedding cake decorated with red roses, a red waterfall and topped with the traditional bride and groom.

Hostesses included Audrey Cuevas, Besse Necaise, and Diddy Spiers.

Serving at the guest register was Melissa McNece. The wedding was directed by Mrs. Marie Jones of Caesar with catering by Mrs. Audrey Cuevas, aunt of the bride.

For their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Seals will be in Leetown, Bay St. Louis, and Biloxi. The bride chose a white dress with white lace. She wore a white carnation.

Clermont Handcrafters News

Ms. Beverley Praetorius, president, presided at the September meeting of the Clermont Handcrafters Club held at the home of Mrs. Robert Taconi, Bay St. Louis. The short business meeting was opened with a prayer led by Mrs. Maurice Shea, secretary.

Mrs. Frank Klein Jr. co-hostessed with Mrs. Taconi for the social hour which was followed by a Rub Out Painting Workshop conducted by President Praetorius. Door prize was won by Mrs. A.M. Thomas.

Next meeting of the group will be October 4.

Pass Christian Garden Club

The Pass Christian Garden Club held its first meeting of the fiscal year 1984-85 September 6 at the Hancock Bank Annex.

President Mrs. John J. Drevar introduced the new officers: 1st Vice President, Mrs. Ronald Santo; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Robert Doe; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Morgan Lyon; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Robert Leapey; Treasurer, Mrs. A.H. Lasseigne; Parliamentarian, Mrs. John Audley; and Historian, Mrs. Frank Juge.

Membership Chairman Mrs. Daniel Sentilles announced and the president welcomed the following new members: Mrs. Alfred E. Abanza, Mrs. Harry Blankenship, Mrs. Paul G. Bode, Mrs. Kenneth Newton, Sarah Colawa, Mrs. Martin Kelly, and Mrs. James C. Yaeger.

Mrs. Drevar stated that March 21 is the established date for the Pass Christian Pilgrimage, but that final plans had not been decided.

Mrs. R. Klits Wallace, Wild Flower Garden chairman, described the progress that had been made during the summer toward repairing the vandalism damage that has been inflicted on the garden, and the membership voted unanimously to continue the effort to maintain the garden.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. Wallace presented a program featuring Oriental flower arranging, emphasizing how much can be done to please the eye with so little material.

The new officers were the hostesses for the day.

Seals—Lee

The couple will reside in Leetown.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Seals and Milton Seals of Beaumont, Tx.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Harris and family of Bush, La., and Ms. Gerty Seymour of Biloxi.

Pre-nuptial Parties

A miscellaneous shower was given in the home of Mrs. Ann Rester. A household shower was given in the fellowship hall of Union Baptist Church and a lingerie shower was given in the home of the bride by Suzette Cuevas and Cheryl Pittman, cousins of the bride.

MR. AND MRS. BOBBY SEALS

Hostesses included Audrey Cuevas, Besse Necaise, and Diddy Spiers. Serving at the guest register was Melissa McNeese. The wedding was directed by Mrs. Marie Jones of Caesar with catering by Mrs. Audrey Cuevas, aunt of the bride.

For their wedding trip to Ft. Walton Beach, Fla., the bride chose a white dress with white lace. She wore a white carnation.

Biloxi Medical Center hires Hattiesburg editor

Cheryl Jackson, formerly a resident of Hattiesburg, has been named director of marketing at Biloxi Regional Medical Center.

Hospital administrator Mark Vergales said Ms. Jackson will direct the hospital's community relations program, direct all advertising and assist with employee relations and internal communications as well.

"We are pleased to welcome Cheryl Jackson to Biloxi Regional. I am confident she will be an asset to the hospital and to the community," he said.

Ms. Jackson spent two years with the Hattiesburg American Publishing Co. and the Gannett Corporation prior to accepting the marketing position at BRMC.

While in the Hattiesburg area, she was employed as weekend wire editor of the "Hattiesburg American," editor of "The Petal Journal," a weekly community newspaper, and reporter and weekend editor for the "American."

She holds a master's degree in public relations from the University of Southern Mississippi and a bachelor of arts degree in journalism from Mississippi University for Women.

Ms. Jackson worked as a writer in the MUW Public Information Office three years while she was a student, and she completed two internships at the "Aberdeen Examiner," a weekly newspaper in Aberdeen.

She was also editor of the MUW newspaper, "The Spectator," editor of Mortar Board honorary society, publicity chairman for the MUW Modeling Squad and editor of the alumnae newsletter of the Reveler Social Club.

"I am excited about Biloxi Regional Medical Center's commitment to providing quality health care to the residents of this area, as well as the hospital's responsiveness to community needs as evidenced by the planned opening of a Chemical Dependency Unit and the plans for building a replacement facility in the Biloxi business district.

"I am looking forward to getting to know the people of this area and to working with Biloxi Regional in its efforts to gauge and meet the changing health care needs of the community," Ms. Jackson said.

Industry council elects Thomas

The Gulf Coast Private Industry Council recently elected Richard L. Thomas of Bay St. Louis as council chairman for 1984-1985.

Thomas, Bay St. Louis office manager for CPA firm of Moore and Powell, has been a director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce for 14 years and has served two terms as chamber president.

He is also past president of Gulf Coast Council, Chamber of Commerce.

Also elected was Joe Ethridge, plant manager of Strummers Wells, vice chairman.

Ethridge had previously served as chairman on the PIC's program planning committee.

The Private Industry Council has the responsibility for determining the employment and training programs within Harrison and Hancock counties under the Job Training Partnership Act. This program provides business with a tool to assist in obtaining a trained work force at little or no expense to the employer.

Thomas succeeds Larry Patterson, owner of Patterson Communications in Biloxi, who has served as chairman since 1982.

Other officers are John Hash, president of WLOX Broadcasting Company; Mary McNeil, manager of business affairs, City of Biloxi; Chuck Ueltschey, manager, economic development, Mississippi Power Company; Carl Johnson, general manager, Holiday Inn, Gulfport; and Doyle Moffett, executive director, Gulf Coast Community Action Agency.

By Darlene Underwood

Financial independence is the dream of most Americans. This article discusses savings plans and investment options that are open to you. There are no assurances of financial security, but there are a few guidelines you can adopt which will help you achieve your financial goals:

- Avoid as many common financial errors as you can. (A list of these is at the end of this article).
- Pay yourself first by saving regularly. This is a prerequisite for financial flexibility and independence later in life. Experts suggest that you save 10 percent of everything you earn. (First you will save at a low interest rate; later you will have accumulated enough to purchase assets which will appreciate even further).
- Know where your money goes.
- Diversify your holdings. Have some monies in savings accounts or certificates of deposit, some in mutual funds or stocks, and some in real estate or even gold and silver coins.
- Make short-, intermediate-, and long-term financial plans.

Your Savings Plan

Savings can provide a cushion for any unforeseen situations or emergencies. You should keep in mind two types of money problems: immediate and long-term. Typical immediate problems include loss of job, falling behind financially, and sudden expenses. Long-range money problems may not be as urgent, but are just as important in life-long planning. Families need to prepare for financial security and independence, and to save for emergencies and a secure retirement.

You might want to have different types of savings accounts. Label each account according to its objective. A short-term savings account could meet short-term needs; intermediate- or long-term savings accounts could be used for major purchases. A retirement account will probably also be needed.

To encourage saving, government policymakers have changed the tax law. For the first time in recent history, $200 in interest and/or dividend income is exempt from a single person's income taxes. For couples filing jointly, the dividend and interest exemption is $400.

Here are some avenues open for saving:

- Payroll deduction plans or a credit union.

- Series EE savings bonds.
- A regular savings account.

Be alert to differences in interest rates, interest compounding methods, and the time deposits begin to earn interest. The interest rate will depend on the length of time you wish to tie up your money. For example, a 2½ year certificate of deposit will carry a higher rate of interest than money held in a regular savings account. However, money in a savings account can be withdrawn at any time, while money in a certificate would involve a heavy interest penalty if withdrawn before maturity.

Series EE bonds do not carry the same interest rate from purchase date to maturity. Consumers earn less interest than the maximum rate if they sell the bonds before maturity. Savings held in a regular savings account will have a somewhat lower interest rate, but will provide flexibility and liquidity.

The instruments mentioned so far are all fixed-dollar savings, which means that the dollar value invested is not at risk and does not fluctuate. However, they do carry the risk of loss of purchasing power in times of inflation. You might also want to investigate flexible dollar investments, which include stocks, bonds, mutual funds, real estate, and other investments.

Stocks and Mutual Funds

Stocks and mutual fund shares are ownership certificates. Stock certificates represent ownership in one specific company while mutual funds represent ownership in many different companies.

Be aware that different companies have different objectives, from the preservation of capital and the production of steady income (money market funds), to growth funds, tax-exempt bond funds, and speculative growth and venture capital funds.

The same objectives hold true for investment in stocks. Some stocks are a "blue chip" type of investment, designed for the investor who wants to have dividends and a higher degree of safety. Other stocks carry greater risks but have a potential for higher future return. For example, companies who develop new technologies do not return much money in dividends because profits go toward research and development. Both stocks and mutual funds fluctuate in price, depending on supply and demand. Investors have no guarantee that they will get back the money they invested when they sell. It can easily be more or less.

Bonds

Bonds are debt certificates. They differ from stocks and mutual funds because they promise to pay a certain return (interest) and also guarantee that the amount borrowed (principal) will be returned at maturity. The price of bonds however, can fluctuate. Therefore, consider the bond rating carefully. Various rating companies indicate their rating in different ways, but it is always clear with risk is involved in the purchase (e.g., from AAA, AA, A to CCC, CC, C; the AAA rating being the highest rating available). The federal government, state government, municipalities, and corporations all issue bonds to finance their operations and projects.

Real Estate

There are four major ways to invest in real estate: property (such as owning a home), income-producing property, investment trusts (REIT), and undeveloped land. Investing in real estate has been profitable for many consumers. Real estate is less liquid than the investments discussed previously because it is difficult to turn it into cash quickly without a loss. On the other hand, real estate is an excellent hedge against inflation. Prices fluctuate based on changes in the economy in general and the area in which the real estate is located.

Gold and Silver

Consumers who wish to diversify their assets or who are afraid of economic upheavals may wish to purchase gold, silver, or other precious metals. You can buy gold in various forms such as gold bullion or gold coins. Coins come in two major categories: bullion coins and numismatic (rare) coins.

Popular gold bullion coins include the Mexican 2½ peso, the Mexican 50 peso, the Austrian 100 corona, the Canadian maple leaf, and the South African Kruggerand. Popular numismatic (rare) coins usually fall less in price than gold or silver bullion coins, and also go up at a faster rate when the prices of gold and silver are rising. They are expected to do very well if the inflation rate increases. Be aware that not all coins will increase in value, even those that are labeled and sold as collector's items. Become familiar with coinage value if you decide to collect them as an investment.

Collectibles and Works of Art

Collectibles are works of art, diamonds, antiques, stamps, rare coins, paintings, sculptures, old toys, porcelains, snuff boxes, oriental rugs, musical instruments, paperweights, etc. Consumers are increasingly seeking out investments in these areas to diversify their holdings.

Antique furnishings can be a good investment, especially if the pieces are also bought for personal use and enjoyment. Since the supply of genuine antique furniture in good condition is limited, consumers can eventually expect to sell for more than the purchase price. This contrasts with new furniture, which depreciates in price the moment it leaves the store.

Consult a professional appraiser or art specialist before you make a purchase in this category.

ACTIVITIES

1. Conduct research on the specific types of investments you are interested in (e.g., coins).
2. Develop a long-term plan for yourself. Indicate what you would like to own in 10, 15 years. Be specific. Then figure out if you can reach these goals. If not, think about the changes and adaptations you can make in your life to reach the goals.

COMMON FINANCIAL ERRORS

1. Not Knowing How Money Is Spent—Keep track of income and expenses is a helpful exercise and increases awareness of the amount of money earned, spent, or saved.

2. No Will—The state will distribute your assets for you if you don't have a will.

3. No Goals or Plan—Immediate, short-term, and long-term goals should be identified and revised when necessary.

4. Not Differentiating Between Risks—All savings and investments carry risks: loss of purchasing power, loss of capital, etc. Knowledge of these risks is essential when planning financial strategies.

5. Not Enough Diversification—A variety of different investment areas is recommended. Avoid putting "all your eggs in one basket."

6. Not Communicating About Money—Many family power struggles involve resentments which grow from feelings of dominance or dependence created by money. Encourage all family members to talk about money.

7. Carelessness—Failure to update financial strategies, such as transferring savings from a low-interest account to a higher paying certificate of deposit, can cost consumers money.

8. Not Updating Financial Plan—Family changes and political or economic events may require altering financial goals and actions.

9. Not Planning for Retirement—Social Security is not a complete retirement wage. Other options (IRA's, Keogh's, annuities, pensions) should be explored early in a person's working life.

10. Not Staggering Accounts—Savings accounts should be staggered so that they will be more accessible in case of economic change or emergency.

11. Planning but No Action—The best financial plan is worthless without appropriate action to carry it out. Many consumers do not follow through with financial plans.

12. Not Planning for Education Costs—Monitor closely and plan for college and high school tuition costs.

13. Overextended Credit—Total Credit obligations (excluding mortgage) should not exceed 17 percent of income and, should be less for persons with other large expenses. Bankruptcy, consolidation, counseling, and debt renegotiations are options available to overextended families.

14. Exaggerated Expectations—Advertising and modern marketing techniques have made many "wants" seem like "needs." Most consumers cannot have everything, and some have difficulty accepting this reality.

15. Not Maximizing Employment Opportunities—Many Consumers stay in a particular job or location for convenience and security. Better opportunities may be available.

ETV Brief

CHILD ABUSE

Five special television programs to be broadcast on Mississippi Educational Television this fall take an honest look at child sexual abuse and give straight answers on what children and adults can do to prevent it.

"Preventing Child Sexual Abuse: What Your Children Should Know" can be seen at the following times: program for parents, 8 p.m., Monday, Sept. 17; kindergarten-third grade, 8 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 18; fourth-seventh grade, 8:30 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 18; junior-senior high school, 8 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 19; and high school, 9 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 20.

The series has several functions: it provides solid information about the scope and nature of the problem; outlines the symptoms and consequences of child sexual abuse; demonstrates practical steps parents and other adults can take to protect children; models a way of discussing sexual abuse with children that's honest and clear and helpful but doesn't require a long preliminary "birds-and-bees" explanation; and brings the essential safety and prevention message directly to children and teens in a manner geared to their level of understanding.

The series is not intended as sex education; rather, it is an important hard-hitting overview of the problem including specific measures for dealing with the problem and for prevention.

The first 90-minute program on Sept. 17 is for parents, teachers, pediatricians, anyone who has contact with youngsters. It explains sexual abuse of children: who fall victim, who are the perpetrators and what the viewer can do to prevent it.

This program also previews the forthcoming programs so that parents will be able to select the appropriate one for viewing with their children.

ETV Brief

GREAT PERFORMANCES

Mozart's "La Clemenza di Tito" (The Clemency of Titus) will be rebroadcast at 9 p.m. Monday, Sept. 24 on Mississippi ETV on "Great Performances." It was first seen on "Great Performances;" in 1981.

Set in first-century Rome, "La Clemenza di Tito" centers on the determination of Vitellia (Carol Neblett), who is in love with Emperor Titus (Eric Tappy), to have him killed when he seems inclined to marry someone else, and the willingness of Titus to forgive everyone who has plotted against him.

Director Jean Pierre Ponnelle's work is familiar to public television viewers through his previous productions of "La Boheme" and "The Marriage of Figaro." He filmed the entire production of "Titus" at the original sites in and around Rome while working at night with controlled lighting.

Story Hour titles listed

Every Thursday at 10:30 a.m. Story Hour is conducted at the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis.

Story Hour is a program of picture books, films and other activities geared to the preschool child.

"My Very Own Octopus" By Bernard Most is the first book to be read. "Five Little Children," a finger play, will be performed between stories. "Swimmy" by Leo Lionni is the second book. "Sand Castle," a motion picture film, ends this program about the beach. Becky Mitchum Keefer, children's librarian, conducts the program.

FARMWEEK

A new type of agricultural futures contract called an option will be available to farmers beginning Oct. 3. The third of a four-part "Farmweek" report examining options trading will focus on "call options" at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Sept. 24 on Mississippi ETV. Market reports and analyses, local and national farm news, a calendar of upcoming statewide agricultural events, production tips for farmers and weather forecasts for the upcoming week are regular features of "Farmweek," which is co-produced by Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.
